Pirates Piece the Year Together

In a puzzle there are separate individual pieces that must fit together to make a complete picture. So like a puzzle was the 1981-1982 school year. Each class, teacher, organization, and student had to fill a certain space so that the school year could be completed. At Cooper School, the student body strove to achieve its ultimate goals. Each individual puzzle piece was important because without it, the total picture would have been incomplete.

Through the work and cooperation of everyone, the year was a success. Every person accomplished his part in making the 1981-82 school year fit together to finish the entire picture.

Each student worked on and improved his personal puzzle, in turn contributing to puzzles of organizations, sports, and classes, which made up the giant picture of our year.

Students involved in the numerous activities high school had to offer felt a sense of belonging. Student Council represented our school proudly by being elected President of the area student councils. Hopes were high as the Lady Pirates strove to become state contenders. NHS honored outstanding students for their leadership abilities and their service to the school. The French Club boosted spirit during Homecoming by selling spirit links to the different classes.

Organizations enabled individuals to feel important as they worked toward various goals.

As the year drew to a close, people were able to see the puzzle they had helped to build.

Through individual and group accomplishments, the year was like the completion of a puzzle. A Sense of achievement could be felt by each individual who had contributed his part to the year.

The students were able to enter into the next phase of their lives knowing that they had completed the year to the best of their ability.

ACADEMICS

Teachers Not Too Busy for Students

Teachers' schedules were busier than ever this year with the addition of an extra class period to the schedule. Instructors were responsible for making lesson plans and teaching their classes in an interesting way. However, grading papers, making out tests and worksheets, and the other things that go along with the job occupied only a part of the devoted teacher's time.

Teachers also gave time as sponsors for many of the schools organizations and extracurricular activities. The athletic department was sponsored by the coaches; various organizations were sponsored by the teachers who taught the classes most closely related to that club, and other nonrelated clubs such as NHS and Pep Squad were also sponsored by teachers.

Each of the four classes in the high school were also sponsored by four teachers. Cooper's educators also sponsored UIL teams in practice and district meets. Although the teachers had very heavy schedules, they were never too busy to offer individual attention or to do the job they wanted to do — teach high school.

Library Is Enhanced

New librarian Cherryl Hill worked to update the library for the student body. Mrs. Hill subscribed to twenty new magazines, and two hundred new books were also ordered. These new additions provided a wide range of sources for those students doing research. A greater variety of books were available for enjoyment by the students.

The audio-visual room was enriched with a new film projector, and a new color television and video recorder. This special equipment added to new methods of teaching.

C'est La Vie

French, taught by Ms. Goodwin, was the only foreign language course offered at Cooper this year. The students started the year by learning to converse orally in French and adding to their vocabulary.

Students started writing in French the second six weeks. This was a big transition because the written words did not look like they were pronounced. To supplement their knowledge, the students saw French culture in films and learned French songs. As the French say, "C'est la Vie! — (that's life!)."

(d) Brenda Barnell thinks and writes in French at the same time. (e) Lisabeth Polley looks up how to say paw to describe her pet in French.

Students Piece Together Knowledge for College

The major concern for English teachers this year was preparing their students for higher education. Teachers went through the year teaching their charges the skills that students will need for college. Students were taught grammatical skills and well as literary abilities.

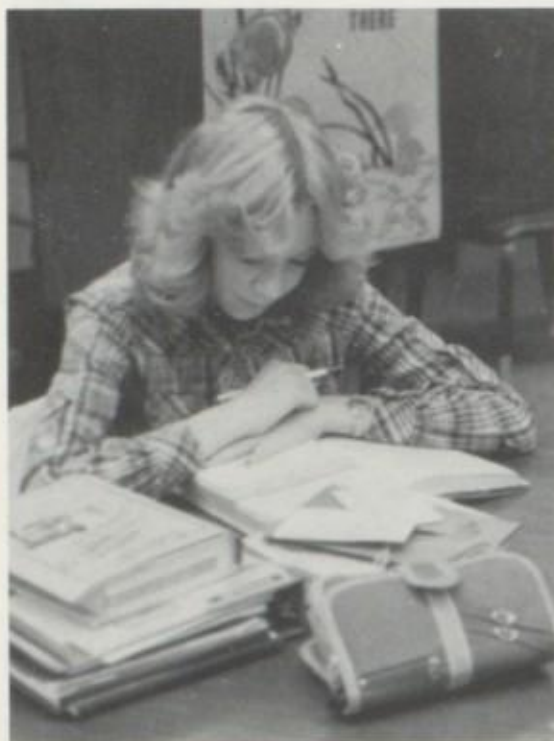

Susan Lake and Connie Goodwin concentrated on teaching their freshmen how to put sentences together into well formed paragraphs. In addition to reading short stories, the freshmen read longer works such as The Hound of the Baskervilles and Romeo and Juliet.

Sophomores under Mrs. Lake devoted their time to learning how to write five paragraph compositions. These students had practice in formal writing when they wrote their own short stories. English II students read the plays Our Town and Julius Caesar.

Mr. Brown's English III students faced the inevitable task of writing the research paper, to which an entire six weeks was devoted. Juniors polished their grammatical skills while also studying American literature.

Seniors tied together loose ends of their previous three years of English. They studied Shakespeare's plays such as Hamlet which they went to see at Texas Tech. The Seniors also read other examples of English literature such as Beowulf.

Science Classes . . .

Science classes this year were involved in taking life and the things that affect it apart to see what makes it tick. The teachers succeeded in providing an interesting learning atmosphere for their students.

Mrs. Zukauckas and Miss Street taught on widely varied topics in their Physical Science classes. These subjects, which ranged from alternate energy sources to electricity and to atomic structure, gave their students a basis for many fields of science.

Biology I students under Mrs. Zukauckas and Mr. Hanfeld studied life and its maintenance. They started with the cell and worked their way to mammals. Dissecting frogs, starfish, and clams proved to be the most interesting part of Biology.

Students in Mr. Hanfeld's chemistry classes discovered the chemical basis of life. They studied a variety of subjects including energy, acids, and bases. Lecture notes were reinforced by laboratory experiments.

Biology II, taught by Mr. Hanfeld, was a college prep course for Juniors and Seniors. These students studied human body systems in depth. They put this knowledge to work when dissecting the fetal pig.

Math Students Add Skills

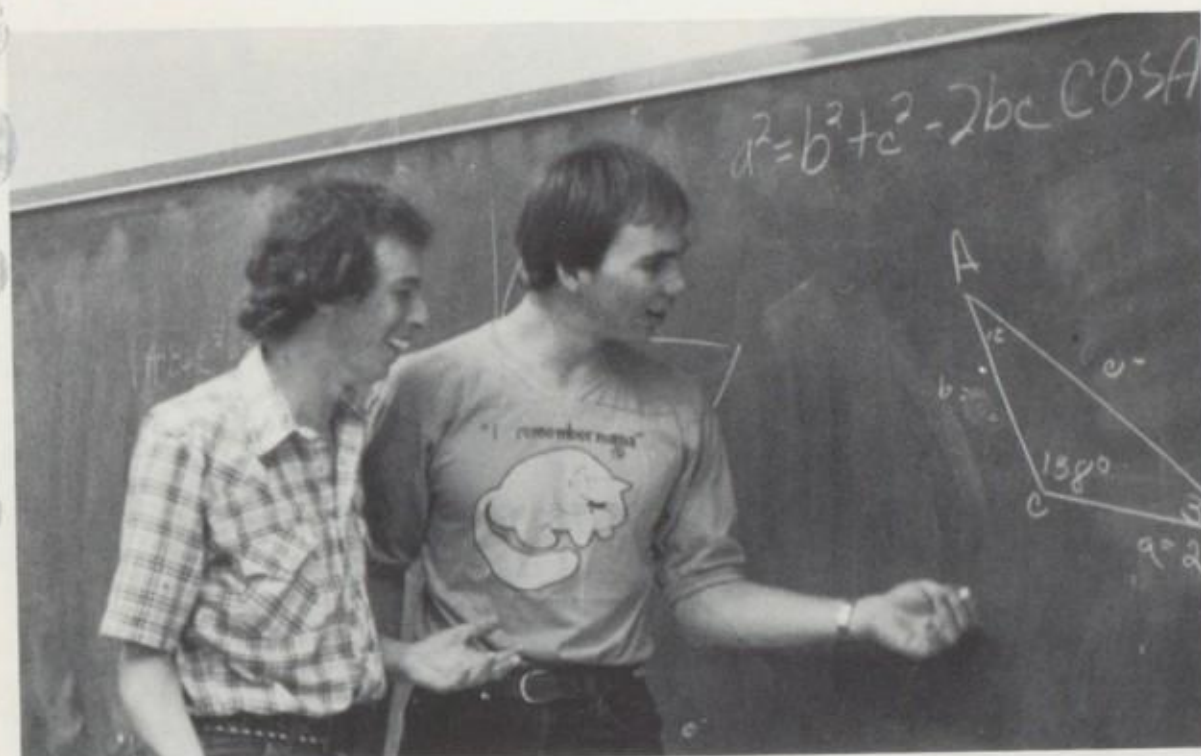

Math students devoted time and effort to adding to their math skills.

Algebra I classes, taught by Mrs. Hanfeld and Miss Street, offered students a basic background in Algebra. Students studied positive and negative numbers and began to solve equations.

Miss Street's Geometry classes studied various theorems and postulates and applied them to proofs. They also studied points, planes, and lines.

Mrs. Hanfeld's Algebra II class studied rational and irrational numbers. They solved polynomial equations and quadratic equations by factoring.

The seniors in Trigonometry, taught by Mrs. Hanfeld, studied the relationships between triangles. They added to their skills with the use of Trig identities and stated problems.

Past, Present, and Future

Students were told at the first of the year that they were studying history because "our past indicates what our future will be."

The American history classes of Coaches Brownson, Cherry, and Shoults used class discussion and written assignments to study the history of our nation from 1877 to the present.

Class discussions about how the past relates to current events were common in World History classes this year. The classes of Coach Shoults and Coach Rushing began their study with prehistoric times and continued until the twentieth century.

Government classes kept seniors busy last year. Coach Brownson and Coach Caraway taught the organization and processes of government. Our economic system was studied in relation to current events.

Life in the Real World

Students in vocational courses such as Ag, Homemaking, Distributive Education, and CVAE prepared themselves for life in the real world of employment and occupations.

Ag students, taught by Mr. Thompson and Mr. Weathers, occupied their time learning skills that are useful in the field of agriculture. General Ag students learned to work on farm machinery and learned other mechanical skills.

Students in Homemaking classes, taught by Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Orr, devoted time and energy to learning various household skills such as cooking and sewing along with other skills.

Distributive Education and CVAE classes provided experience in an actual work atmosphere.

ORGANIZATIONS

One Step Ahead

This new year of the National Honor Society, brought many rewards and also a new sponsor. The sponsor for this year was Mrs. Debbie Zukauckas. She, like all the other sponsors of this High Scholastic Club, encouraged and helped us throughout the year. Mrs. Zukauckas felt that the organization was the most vital organization of the school. She said, "Our members learn that intelligence without service is worthless. I believe that this year's members are some of the finest people."

This organization started out the year with a Valentine's Dance on February thirteenth in the High School SnackBar. One of the important qualities of this organization was service. NHS members helped in the UIL contests showing people around and helping park buses.

The club, like many other clubs had certain qualifications. To be in this club members had to possess Scholarship, Leadership, Service, and Character. This year twenty-two students met these qualifications. The tapping was held in the auditorium, and the induction was held at the Southern Seas Commander room. The organization finished off the year with forty-five members and a swimming party.

Activities Abound

The organization that serves the school and the student body is the Student Council. This year's Student Council put forth great effort to better the school with numerous activities.

They began the year by co-sponsoring the annual signing party with the Annual Staff. They sponsored several activities throughout the year including two blood drives, a talent show, three dances, and the powder puff football game.

Each day during first and third periods, STUCO officers informed the student body of the happenings of the school. Officers and representatives were always available to listen to complaints or suggestions of the student body. The major contribution STUCO made to the school was the purchase of a juke box to be placed in the snack bar next year.

Student Council ended the year with a trip to the State Convention in Austin. The trip was filled with many fond memories and great ideas for the year to come. The 1981-82 Student Council did a super job of making Cooper High School a better place to learn.

XEX on the Right Track

Responsibility is a great piece of the puzzle which Cooper's Chi Sigma Chi took upon themselves this year. They helped keep our school neat and proud. On Saturday, October 20, science club members met to dig out what was seen as the Pirate Track. The track had been overgrown with grass and weeds. The club also supported and aided the Tiny Pirate Booster Club in their project of fencing the elementary playground on April 10.

Monthly night meetings brought guest speakers from many walks of life. Topics ranged from nuclear submarines at the bottom of the ocean to the stars at the top of the skies.

Learning in Style

Leaving everyday at the noon hour were five girls enrolled in Cosmetology. These girls drove to Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute to learn the latest in hair designing. At Jessie Lee's, the girls became apprentices or restricted beauty operators. They used the techniques of professionals to create the styles of today. Time was also spent in class room instruction.

The girls participated in contests. Mannequin design and Notebook were two of the contests that cosmetologists entered. Sherry Coventry and Debbie Wren advanced to the State Contest winning 1st and 3rd place in Mannequin Design. Lois Hatfield received 1st at state for her notebook. Terri White participated in the State finals but did not place.

At the end of the year, the senior girls who had participated in Cosmetology for two years received their licenses to operate as beauticians. Cosmetologists make up a fashionable piece to the Pirate Puzzle.

"Busi" Bodies

"New and improving" could be the title given to Cooper's first chapter of Future Business Leaders of America. The purpose of FBLA is to bring students, interested in a business career, together. FBLA began its first year with officer elections. With this behind them, they moved forward in search of a money-making project. They decided to hold the concession stand for the Cooper U.I.L. practice tournament in February.

A certified Public Accountant, Elaine McNair, attended one morning meeting and discussed the pros and cons of an accounting career. The Cooper chapter took a field trip to the First National Bank. At monthly meetings, FBLA members discussed ideas for a year-end party. The party was celebrated as a picnic complete with volleyball and lots of laughs recalling the year.

FFA Offers Opportunities

Fairs, Stock shows, and contests kept FFA members busy throughout the year. Their money-making projects consisted of citrus fruit and sausage sales. The FFA members attended the South Plains Fair, Cooper Junior Livestock Show, Lubbock County Show, El Paso Stock Show, and the Houston Stock Show.

At the El Paso stock show, Glen Bednarz placed 2nd, Eric Heinrich placed 12th, and Jimmy Cobb placed 3rd. At the Houston Stock Show, Kyle Arnold placed 8th, Marcus Bednarz placed 15th and 17th. Brian Heinrich placed 21st, and Jimmy Cobb placed 22nd.

FFA offered many opportunities to those with agriculture interests. Their main purpose was to promote the farming industry and to better acquaint students with the agriculture environment.

Many of the Future Farmers of America received numerous awards by year's end. These awards were presented at the May 18, F.F.A. Banquet. The members traveled to various stock-shows and did quite well. The Ag mechanics award went to Bruce Robinett. Ag mechanics traveled to contest and received second in district. Brian Heinrich was elected to be district president and completed a year as district secretary.

The Swine Showmanship award went to Eric Heinrich and the Sheep Showmanship award went to Kyle Arnold. Grand Champion Lamb was awarded to Kyle Arnold, and the Reserve Lamb award went to Cheryl Mason. The Grand Swine award went to Bruce Cobb. The 1982 F.F.A. Sweetheart was Kellie Thomas. The Honorary Chapter Farmers were Donna Weathers and Jim Gordon.

F.H.A. Rolls on

The F.H.A. organization this year started out with a skating party at the Skate Machine. They had much fun, and there was a great turnout. For their Christmas and Thanksgiving project the club went to the Quaker Villa old folks home visiting each room individually.

As a money-making project, the organization sold knick-knacks from the gift mill and made a good profit. In March, the organization sponsored a dance for the March of Dimes. In February several members traveled to Amarillo for the Area meeting. LaDon Stanford felt it was a rewarding trip for everyone because they came back with some very good ideas for next year.

At the end of the year, the organization celebrated with a skating party instead of the traditional banquet.

The sponsors for the year were Mrs. Nancy Howard and Mrs. Phylis Orr. Mrs. Howard commented, "F.H.A. offered many opportunities to the students."

Annual Pieces Year Together

The 1982 yearbook staff started off their year by participating in a Taylor Annual workshop. In this workshop rookies learned the basics of putting an annual together. To finance the annual, staffers next sold advertisements to the Lubbock, Woodrow, Wolforth, and Slaton communities. These advertisements were a significant part of the annual budget.

Sales for the 1982 yearbook began with a slide presentation and skit. Staff members encouraged students to purchase an Annual during the three-day sale. Succeeding in fulfilling the last deadline, staffers felt that they had accomplished putting the last pieces of the puzzle together.

Newspaper Sails on . . .

The newspaper staff was composed of eighteen members who named the paper the "Shipwreck Times." The newspaper staff started off the year by selling subscription orders to the entire student body and faculty.

Each day the staff worked hard to meet deadline on Fridays. They typed, wrote, and printed throughout the year to get the information to the students and faculty. The information consisted of sports, organizational activities, special awards won by the school, and feature articles of individual people.

They sent out eighteen issues throughout the year. They also had a Valentine's issue, and they ended the year with a Farewell Senior issue.

French Club Sells Spirit

The French Club started off the year with a very successful money making project. Each member sold spirit links to the school. They were small strips of paper sold to each class. Then each day the links were connected to make a chain. The class with the most spirit links were the ones with most spirit.

The French Club held their traditional Christmas Party. They ate traditional french foods and cheeses. They also sang French carols around the halls.

The club ordered t-shirts in the spring that had an alligator on the front that said "Each to his own taste!" in French. The French Club ended off the year with a banquet at the Crepe Suzette, a French restaurant in Lubbock.

DECA Makes it Work

DECA held the piece of the Pirate Puzzle of independence. "The goals of Distributive Education are to develop future LEADERS in the field of marketing and distribution," said Kay Graves, DECA sponsor. Eighteen students worked in part-time jobs in the area to learn skills not available in any other offered course.

Through the year, DECA had their Tom Wat fund raiser which they raised enough money to donate $400 to Meals on Wheels. DECA members also donated three days to Meals on Wheels to deliver meals to elderly people.

A Christmas dinner was shared by members at the 50 Yard Line. An Employer Appreciation Breakfast was given April 13th at 7:30 a.m. in the Cooper Snack Bar. Employees honored their bosses at this event.

Sold on Themselves

DECA stood its own with its free enterprise project. This project qualified for the State Meet held in April. It had captured first place at the Area VI Career Development Conference. Traveling along to State with the project were several other qualifiers: Paula Sinor — Apparel and Accessories, Debora Arnold — General Merchandise, Jana Edwards — Restaurant Marketing and Managing, and Laurie Langston — General Merchandise, Written. With these awards, Cooper's DECA chapter walked away with the traveling trophy awarded for the outstanding chapter of the area. Other award winners were 3rd place, De'An Boone — Finance and Credit and Pete Jones 2nd in the Pre-Employment Lab contest.

The winners went to the state meet in Corpus Christi. The free-enterprise project was a finalist. Although the others did not place, they had a great time and a very educational experience.

In addition to the awards from Area, the Cooper Chapter brought back the new Area president for 1982-83, Shawn Stewart. Shawn defeated candidates from Wichita Falls and Amarillo to gain the presidency of our area.

This year's DECA club at Cooper proved to be one of the strongest and with this, added a tremendous amount to the "Pirate Puzzle."

Band Finds the Key

Marching season for the 1981-82 Pirate Band started with many new adjustments. Under the new direction of Mr. Tim Nix, the band devoted time and effort to develop half-time shows for Pirate fans. During Homecoming, the band executed a dazzling drill with the twirlers using fire batons for their routines.

In November, the band participated in UIL Marching Contest receiving a division III. The twirling line received a division I which enabled them to compete at State level in June.

Several individuals excelled in their musical abilities. Brenda Jackson received a division I on her twirler solo. Judy Thomason and Denis Qualls were named to the All-Region Band in January.

Athletes Show "Spirit"

Fellowship of Christian Athletes contributed a great deal to the school and the athletic program. Sponsored by Wink Cherry, the group involved themselves in many activities.

Meeting on every Thursday evening, FCA members encouraged each other and spent a great amount of time growing closer together. They held many activities and sponsored the Ex Tech athletes vs. Current Tech athletes game to raise money for a retreat in April.

The group participated in a volleyball tournament in February and several girls held a slumber party towards the end of school. FCA ended the year with many great friendships and fun-filled memories. Athletes grew physically and spiritually throughout the FCA year.

VOCT Builds a Future

When looking away from high school classrooms and past the elementary, one could find young men working to build themselves a future. These students were those involved in VOCT.

Their leader, J. W. Tabor, taught them not only respect for themselves and others but respect for the tools they used to create wonders. Their biggest project was the new bus barn still in construction. They also built the stand used for the Homecoming Queen and Court. In addition, they found time to prepare projects and business teams for their contests.

VOCT holds a piece to the "Pirate Puzzle" which constantly builds and strengthens it.

Acting-up

Drama characterized a great role in the "Pirate Puzzle." "Characterizing our school" is exactly what Drama students did with the annual Drama initiation. Characters such as Kermit the Frog, Tattoo, and Timer roamed the halls. Class productions of the year included Don Coyote, performed by first year thespians, and You Can't Take It With You acted-out by the second and third year students. In addition to class plays, Drama II students brought to life three more plays directed by third year students Brett Gallagher, Todd Kitten, and Kellie Thomas with Brad Vinson stage managing each play. These three directors were given the taste of producing a one-act play. All in all, it was quite a memorable experience with a part in Not Enough Rope, Anybody for Tea?, or Infancy.

The play Pinochio was also staged this year as a children's dinner theatre show. The show journeyed to an Amarillo dinner theatre where they performed for children.

The annual Nativity Scene was again staged for public view in December. The highLIGHT of the year for Theatre Arts was receiving a new lighting system. The light board added new dimensions to the productions as seen by all.

The year for Drama was a very enlightening one holding many good times. As the lights dimmed and the curtain closed, all drama students found themselves not left in the dark, but with a spotlight of friendship and memories lasting far into the future.

OAP Remembers Mama

The district winning one-act play I Remember Mama provided Cooper with a different more dramatic play. In this year's OAP, a live animal was used on stage. Jack Cat gave the cast many memorable times with his scratches and constant meowing backstage.

The production went to District competition at Frenship March 25 and received 1st place. Other honors included: Teresa Klattenhoff — Best Actress, Kellie Thomas — All Star Cast, Todd Kitten — All Star Cast, and Brett Gallagher — Honorable Mention All-Star Cast. From district, the production advanced to Area at Plainview on April 3. With a fine performance, the cast received these awards: Teresa Klattenhoff — All-Star Cast and Kellie Thomas Honorable Mention All-Star Cast.

The cast of I Remember Mama enjoyed a lock-in to rehearse the show and to get better acquainted with one another. They later took a break during Spring Break and went to Roaring Springs where they camped-out in tents, played games day and night, and rehearsed the show in a nearby vacant gymnasium. A territorial treasure hunt characterized the trip with two groups searching for the other's hidden treasure. What the groups truly found was lasting friendships that losing couldn't take away.

Teaming Up for District

The 1981-82 UIL teams gave 100% effort that made the year a success. The UIL teams consisted of Science, Journalism, Spelling, Number Sense, Typing, Ready Writing, and Calculator.

The Science team participated in several practice meets at Roosevelt, Floydada, and Cooper. Placing 2nd at Roosevelt was Gary Fortenberry, who also placed 1st at the Floydada meet. Placing 3rd at the Cooper meet was Kelly Curry, and Todd Kitten placed 2nd. At the district UIL meet in Science Gary Fortenberry placed 1st, which qualified him for regionals. Speaking of UIL

The UIL Speech Team puzzled many of their competitors this year. The team had their best year ever as they cut their selections, tore magazines, and filed articles.

The district meet was held at Roosevelt. Cooper practically swept the district in literary events. In Prose Interpretation, Kim Ross placed 4th, Leslie Kennedy 3rd, and Kellie Thomas took 1st place. Tara McCaghey took 1st place in Poetry as Analee Allen received the alternate position. The public speaking events were a clean sweep for Cooper with Coby Crump, Amy Langston, and Sharee Foreman receiving 1st, 2nd, and 3rd in Informative Speaking while Todd Kitten, Teresa Klattenhoff, and Jay Angerer were awarded 1st, 2nd, and 3rd in Persuasive Speaking. Out of twelve possible advancing positions, the Cooper Speech Team walked away with 9 of them.

At the Regional level, Tara McCaghey received alternate to State in Poetry. Also receiving alternate places were Teresa Klattenhoff in Persuasive and Sharee Foreman in Informative. Amy Langston advanced to the final round and received 6th position. Advancing to the State Contest were Kellie Thomas 3rd in Prose, Coby Crump 3rd in Informative, and Jay Angerer 1st in Persuasive.

In the State Contest Jay Angerer placed 4th and Kellie Thomas placed 3rd. Working together for a stronger team was what the speech team was all about.

Pirate Powers Ensure Pride

Two vital pieces to the "Pirate Puzzle" were those of the Pep Squad and the Bell Squad. Each boosted the moral of the Pirates as well as the spectators. Donna Hanfeld, sponsor of the Pep Squad, said, "The purpose of the squad is to promote school spirit during athletic competition and to boost attendance at the games." The high-spirited cheering group attended all the Pirate football games, district cross-country track meet, and many of the basketball games. In addition to their presence, the group decorated the school preceding the girls bi-district basketball game.

The Bell Squad provided spectators and players with "sounds of victory." The members of this group were responsible for "ringing and bringing" the Pirate Victory Bell to the football games. They provided all with a maintained sound of glory.

A Defensive Year

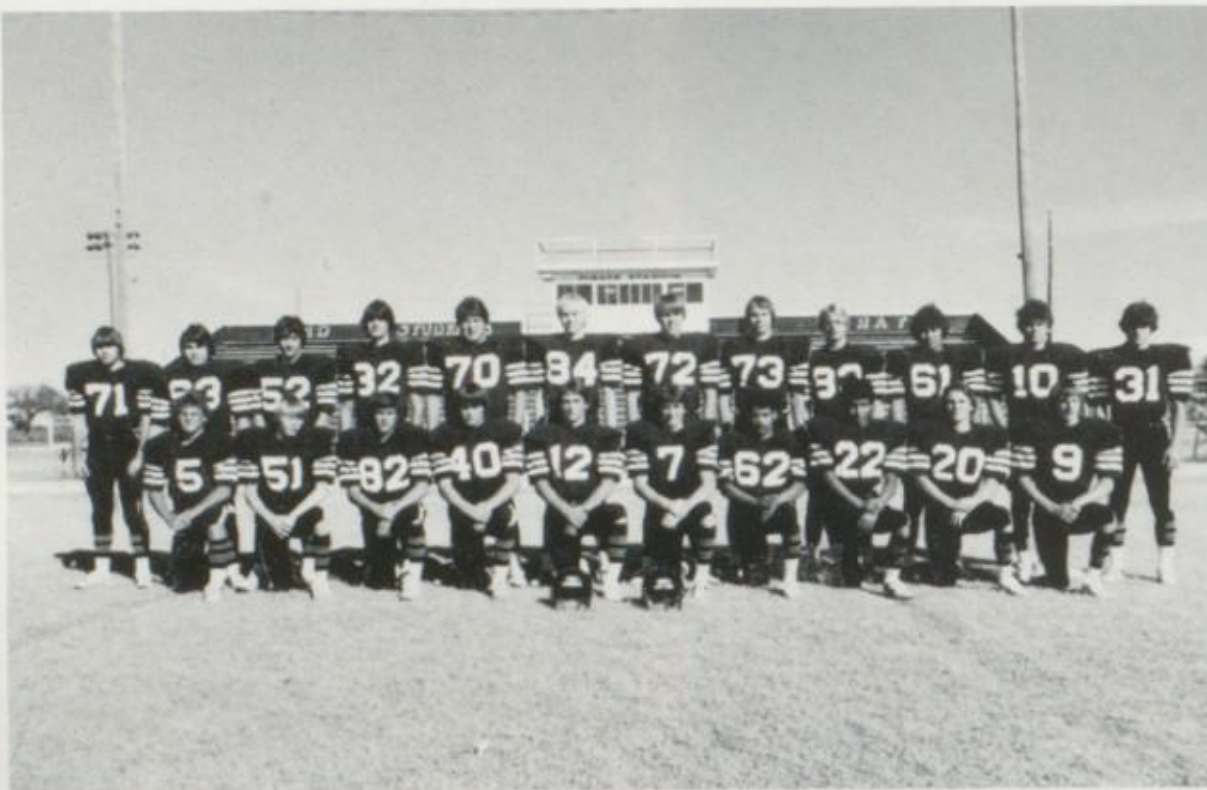

Through the course of the 1981 football season, Pirates put the pieces of discipline and effort together to form a team filled with determination and pride. The players underwent strict discipline throughout the course of the entire season. Pirates gave more than 100% as the year began with a bang. The victory over Ralls with the score 7-6 gave to all the unforgotten taste of success.

A sense of everlasting faith was given to the players by the strong and experienced coaching staff. The devoted coaches helped develop some outstanding players. Awarded the title of All-District Players were: Garland Gaddy — 2nd team defensive line, Jon David Jones — 2nd team Flanker, Derek Sessums — 2nd team center, Glen Buxkemper — 2nd team Offensive back and 2nd team linebacker, Shawn Sampley — Honorable Mention Defensive Back, and Todd Kitten — Honorable Mention Offensive Line.

J.V. Standing Tall

The '81 football season was a very rewarding year for the players and Coach Cherry with victories over Ralls, L.C.H.S., Tahoka, Crosbyton and a tie with Roosevelt. With the team's good attitude and team spirit, goals were reached by blending together as a unit and also by not being intimidated by any opponent. The leading scorers for the J.V. team were Perry McCandless and Johnny Evans. The defensive standouts were, Efram Trevino, Daniel Morales, Leo Mendez, Woody Wilson and Brian Heinrich.

District Champs? Yes!

The Varsity Lady Pirates succeeded in a 28 and 3 season winning district with a 10 and 0 season. The Lady Pirates worked for many long hours and gave much of their time to basketball to win the district championship. Their time and effort was well spent as they were named District Champs.

As a team, the most points scored in one game was 82 points against Roosevelt. The team average was 61 and the opponents was 43 points.

The Top Scorers were Sandra Norton with 440 points, and Betty Egert with 360 points. The Leading Rebounders were Sandra Norton with an average of 10.2 rebounds a game followed by Tina Gordon with a 6.3 average.

Six of the ladies were named to the All-District team. Stacy Gaither, Betty Ann Egert, and Sandra Norton were named 1st team All-District; Trina Heinrich and Rhonda Chisum were named 2nd team All-District; and Tina Gordon was awarded Honorable Mention.

All South Plains awards were announced in March with Betty Egert receiving "All South Plains." Sandra Norton was named All South Plains "Player of the Year," while Coach Karla Kitten was given the honor of All South Plains "Coach of the Year."

Stacy Gaither was asked to participate in the North-South All Star Game playing for the North. These girls, along with Coach Kitten, combined their skills to capture the district crown.

Putting It Through

The 1981-82 basketball year was a season of improvement. The year started out slowly, but as the second round of district came around, the Pirates had improved tremendously. The team beat Roosevelt once in the first round and then once again in the second round of district. The first game against Frenship was close, but the Pirates came up on the short end. The Pirates took revenge on the Frenship Tigers during the second game and were victorious. Coach Rushing was a great help throughout the year. By his coaching skill, he was able to bring two of his senior players to the recognition of other coaches and players of the district. Shawn Sampley and Danny Pevehouse were the two young players that led the team. Danny Pevehouse was named to All-District and Shawn Sampley was given Honorable Mention.

Cross Country's Off and Running

Cross country is the newest boy's sport at Cooper High School, but no matter how new it is, the team is off on the right foot. The team won the first real meet of the season held at Mae Simmons in Lubbock. Some of the team members that placed were: Johnny Ramos — third; Bobby Ortega — ninth; Steve Kitchens — fifteenth; Steven Ward — twentieth; Greg Connors — twenty-first; and Billy Alonso — twenty-third.

The athletes took second place at the district cross country meet as a result of their hard work. Johnny Ramos — second; Bobby Ortega — fifth; Billy Alonso — eleventh; Louis Alvarado — twelfth; Greg Connors — fourteenth; Steve Kitchens — fifteenth; and Steven Ward — sixteenth.

For a new sport at Cooper, cross country has done great and is hoping to improve.

Chris Mendez placed first in the long jump with a record of 19 ft. 3 in., Johnny Ramos placed second in the 3200 meter run and set a new record of 10.01. HOMECOMING

The excitement of Homecoming 1981 began with a display of spirit the entire week before Homecoming. Monday started the Homecoming festivities with Red and Black day. Tuesday proved very interesting with students "punking out" on punk day. The real kid in most students came out when they reverted back into their second childhood on Wednesday. As the week continued, everyone enjoyed being "backwards" on Thursday. The student body was dressed in their Sunday best, as the excitement mounted on Friday. Spirit Links were sold all during the week to the different classes by the French Club. This gave each class an opportunity to show its spirit. During the pep rally, the results were announced and were as follows: Seniors — 823, Juniors — 535, Freshmen — 317, Sophomores — 198.

Each organization elected a Homecoming nominee, and the fifteen girls were honored at an assembly the week before Homecoming. The student body elected three favorites — Mechelle Hampton, Kellie Thomas, and Sandra Norton, who would serve as the 1981 Homecoming Queen and her Court. Keeping with tradition, the Queen was crowned during the game's halftime. After great anticipation and anxiety, Mechelle Hampton was crowned the 1981 Homecoming Queen.

Teacher of the Year

Debbie Zukauckas (formerly Debbie White) was born on May 29, "a certain number of years ago" in Pampa, Texas. She lived in Borger until she was a junior in high school, then she moved to Baytown (near Houston). She graduated Magna Cum Laude 16th out of 436 people in her class. She received her Bachelor of Science in 1973 which enabled her to teach high school. She recently received her Master's in Education which qualifies her to be a principal.

She loves to teach. She enjoys reading, music, back packing, cooking, and gardening. When she is not teaching, she is spending her time with her son Matthew and her husband Bill.

Her philosophy about teaching is: "A teacher should care about her students as well as her subject material. A teacher should be totally honest and fair with her students; what goes for one goes for all. A teacher should always make sure her students know their limits."

When asked about the people of Cooper, she replied, "Students from a rural setting have a better moral foundation. They are closer and form more of a brotherhood that represents the good part of America. I wish that the attitude of Cooper students was more common among other people." Good luck "Mrs. Z" and best wishes for success in everything you do.

The End: A New Beginning

1982 was a very proud year for Seniors. As they ordered their senior pictures, announcements, and gowns, the reality of graduation fast approached. Nostalgia reigned as seniors realized they were doing everything for the last time — the last class, the last club meeting, the last football game, the last lunch, the last test. The awards ceremony honored many seniors with class favorites, Mr. and Miss CHS, and top ten.

Seniors celebrated the last week of school with dress up day, cap and gown day, and cut-off day. A senior swimming party at Maxey Park served as the end of school celebration complete with a picnic in the park.

Graduation was well practiced with a pre-practice in Cooper's auditorium and a final practice Sunday afternoon before the real thing Sunday night. Speeches were given by Valedictorian Todd Kitten, Salutatorian Sharee Foreman, and Historian Kellie Thomas. The final school sponsored event was completed as Mrs. Nancy Fehleison presented the diplomas and Mr. Harold Carpenter turned the tassels. Seniors made up the final piece to the Pirate Puzzle.

JUNIOR HIGH

Stuco Vital to Student Body

The Jr. High Student Council is most commonly known for its service to the school. The hard workers had numerous Spirit Days in support of the athletic teams. They cleaned the trophy case several times. Twice monthly the STUCO issued the newspaper as well as distributing it. Before Spring Break, they ran a parent night. For a money making project, the diligent workers sold carnations shortly before Valentine's Day. Around Christmas there was a tree decorated for the office. A Halloween Dress-Up day was sponsored for October 30th. For an end of school fling, they held a massive water fight. Once again Student Council lived up to the tradition of being a fun-loving service organization.

Academics Make up School Life

Junior High Academics played a major part in the lives of Junior High Students. They spent the year perfecting basic skills. English classes worked to improve grammar and expand vocabularies. Reading introduced new authors as well as new places and ideas. Math classes covered fractions and more difficult types of mathematical problems. History acquainted students with our nations forefathers and the causes in which they believed. All of this and more added up to students being well prepared for their upcoming high school future.

UIL Puts Together District Championship

The UIL teams placed in most events on their way to a district championship. The teams were led by a strong showing from the One-Act Play cast and the other participants carried through to insure a first place finish from Cooper.

The play "Magic Well" tied for first place honors with Tahoka and Roosevelt in the One-Act Play contest. Regina Evans received the honor of Best Actress. Bobby Ortega and Kristi Arteaga were named to All-Star Cast, and Rosalinda Velez received Honorable Mention All-Star Cast.

The 6th grade Spelling team placed Christie Newell 3rd and Janie Contreras 6th. Stacy Clinton placed 3rd and Renee Perez placed 4th in 6th grade Oral Reading.

Kurtis Thomas placed 1st and Valerie Martin placed 4th in 7th and 8th grade Oral Reading. The Number Sense Team also had a strong showing and placed Stacy Clinton 2nd, Dee Lowe 3rd, and Bryan Bennett 6th.

One Good Teacher

Teachers play a very important role in the lives of their students. Junior High teachers are definitely not an exception.

The Junior High faculty consisted of individuals who devoted their time to installing in their students a quest for knowledge. Their understanding and compassion enabled them not only to be teachers, but to be counselors and friends to all students they worked with. They encouraged and influenced their students in studies and extra activities. As an old Chinese proverb once stated, "A load of books does not equal one good teacher."

This 1981-82 year was one of the better ones for the Cooper Junior High Band. This year the 8th graders marched alongside the Varsity band. They enjoyed the year and had a good time after being moved up.

The 7th grade band performed at their top level and received a first division rating in sight reading and a second division rating in concert. Other than this outstanding accomplishment, they were awarded fifteen individual first division medals in solo and ensemble.

The 6th grade band met the Pirate standards by bringing home a second division rating in ensemble and a very distinguished first division rating in concert. Various other students managed to get ten other first place medals in solo and ensemble.

Under the direction of Tim Nix, the Junior High Band put on its end of the year concert. This year they learned a great deal about music and are looking forward to marching with the Varsity Band.

Under the superior guidance of J. W. Tabor, Junior High VOCT students built upon a lasting tradition. Development of working skills, leadership, and citizenship abilities carried them to victory in every contest in which they participated.

VOCT swept the Area VI contest held in Levelland by bringing home medals and ribbons in every event. They took first places for projects which ranged from a stereo cabinet to electric guitars. Notebooks, speeches, and plumbing and electric were other winning events for the VOCT students.

Team projects had a strong showing also. The Business Team earned a first place medal, and the Ceremony Team captured second place.

The VOCT students also excelled at the State Contest held in Houston. They received medals and ribbons for projects, notebooks, and Club Business Team.

This year was one of the most successful for Junior High VOCT. The students' hard work and dedication brought them many well-deserved rewards.

Eager Team Does Great

Considering this was many of 7th grade athletes first time to play full contact football, they learned several things. Of the many objectives they set out to do, most were met, such as learning and executing proper tackling and blocking techniques. Their physical and mental condition improved from week to week. The players gained experience that they can use in years to come.

8th Grade Up & Coming

A new coach and newly gained experience aided the 8th grade team. One of the main accomplishments was the "no quit attitude." The strong point was the defense. The team demonstrated much of their attitude, maturity, sense of play and their overall team play.

7th Girls Have Good Season

The 7th grade girls had an excellent season record of 11-6. They played good fundamental basketball and established an excellent foundation on which to build.

The top scorers were Priscilla Gilliland, Dusty Pounds, Chantel McNair and Shannon Gaither. They played in the Idalou and the C.T.K. tournaments. Both of these received consolation.

8th Grade Girls Battle It Out

The eighth grade girls basketball record was 4-14. They did their best and didn't give up. All season the girls proved that they knew what they were doing. The girls felt as if they have learned a lot this past season and hope to do better as freshmen next year. Everyone at Cooper wishes them the best.

Jr. High Dribblers

The 7th grade record was 7-12. They have the talent to be good, if they work hard and consistently to improve. Hopefully with more experience and growth, both physically as well as emotionally, they can become a fine competitive team in the future. This group of young people could get together and make an excellent basketball team.

8th Does Its Best

Although the eighth grade basketball team had problems, it didn't hold them back or keep them from trying. Their game developed from an out of control exhibition of basketball into a very developed game. They could control the ball well enough to get it down the court, and could set up plays, but just couldn't get the ball through the hoop. The team has good speed and some height, but they lack the consistency.

The one big improvement this group of athletes made to turn their team record around was to work on developing a good attitude toward themselves and their team-mates.

The Pieces Finally Fit

The time and patience Cooper students devoted to the completion of the year resembled the time and patience it takes to complete a puzzle. Students, especially seniors, made every day count as the year drew to a close. The year was filled with special memories and great accomplishments. Every event that happened had a significant purpose and filled a special space in the Pirate Puzzle.

Along with snow flurries and icy streets, January proved busy and active for everyone. The construction of the year, like a puzzle, was in the middle of development where the complete picture was just a dream. But the months ahead finally turned into realities.

The Lady Pirate basketball team proudly received the title of District AAA champions in February. High achievements of the various UIL teams played a major part in Cooper's March UIL District win. In April, hard work and devotion paid off for the One Act Play cast which was selected to represent the entire district in area competition. On May 23, eighty-nine seniors walked across the stage of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center to receive their diplomas.

These are only a few of the high honors and goals students achieved throughout the year. Each accomplishment was a reflection of pride students had for their school and the devotion they gave to make the year complete.

We've Got It Together

After-school hours were meant for fun and relaxation. The nation was booming with the extremely popular video games which proved to be a great and costly source of entertainment. Pac Man and Asteroids were available on home computers. To get out of the house, people went to the good old standby, the movies. Students enjoyed such box office hits as: "Raiders of the Lost Ark," "Arthur," and "On Golden Pond."

Wearing warmups and headbands to classes kept many students comfortable and in fashion. The prairie skirt and ruffled blouse were favorites as spring approached. Fashion in the nation changed immensely with the comeback of the mini skirt, but most Cooper students continued to dress in the traditional blue jeans and tennis shoes.

All the happenings of the nation and world affected the students at Cooper, but for the most part, they spent their time contributing to the events of their school. Each day and its events became a piece of the puzzle that fit a place meant specifically for it. When the year finally ended, students could see that every test, event, and banquet had a special purpose. The puzzle was no longer a puzzle, but a total and complete picture of the year 1982.
